Business accounts

Sim Five Holdings LLC is on file at 72 months old. Most business lenders want 6 to 12 months, so that clock is already running. The next step is the business credit profile: EIN, a dedicated business checking account, a D-U-N-S number, and net-30 vendor accounts that report.

What Is Costing You Money

Each item below is holding your number down. Fix them in this order.

1

Chase Sapphire Preferred under 10%

Your Chase Sapphire Preferred card is at 18% utilization. You owe $2,100 on a $12,000 limit.

Lenders see this and think you are relying too much on credit. High utilization on individual cards drags your score down.

Pay it down to $1,200 or less. That puts you at 10%, which is the ideal range for maximum scores and the best funding offers.

2

American Express Blue Business Cash under 10%

Your American Express Blue Business Cash card is at 19% utilization. You owe $4,800 on a $25,000 limit.

Lenders see this and think you are relying too much on credit. High utilization on individual cards drags your score down.

Pay it down to $2,500 or less. That puts you at 10%, which is the ideal range for maximum scores and the best funding offers.

3

Capital One Spark under 10%

Your Capital One Spark card is at 12% utilization. You owe $950 on a $8,000 limit.

Lenders see this and think you are relying too much on credit. High utilization on individual cards drags your score down.

Pay it down to $800 or less. That puts you at 10%, which is the ideal range for maximum scores and the best funding offers.

4

Overall utilization under 10%

Your utilization is at 17%. That is decent, but you are leaving money on the table.

Under 10% is where the magic happens for funding. The lower your utilization, the higher your pre-approval amount.

Get total balances under $4,500. Push to get every card under 10% of its limit.

04 / NOT A FACTOR

What Does Not Affect Your Funding

None of these is what your funding decision turns on. They are cleanup and upkeep - the note under each one says what, if anything, to do about it.

Keep oldest account open

Your oldest account is your Chase Sapphire Preferred, open for 88 months.

This account is building your credit history every month.

Whatever you do, do not close this card. If you are worried about annual fees, call and ask to downgrade to a no-fee version.

05 / AFTER OPTIMIZATION

Where You Could Be - After Optimization

LENDER	TYPE	EST. RANGE	WHAT YOU NEED
OnDeck	LOC	$5K-$250K	$100,000/year in business revenue required (not on file)
Bluevine	LOC	$5K-$250K	$120,000/year in business revenue required (not on file)

Kabbage (Amex)	LOC	$2K-$250K	$50,000/year in business revenue required (not on file)
Credibly	Term Loan	$5K-$400K	$180,000/year in business revenue required (not on file)

06 / NEXT STEP

Your Next Step

Sim, here is the honest truth. You are fundable at $199,350 right now. The version of you that shows up in 60-90 days - with utilization under 10% and this list worked through - is the version that gets offered more money at better rates.

Secure funding before new accounts

You qualify for funding. Do NOT open new accounts before applying.

Every new card or loan you open drops your average account age, adds a hard inquiry, and can trigger automatic declines from lenders.

Get your funding locked in first while your file looks its best. After your funding is secured, then you can open new accounts to build depth for future rounds.

Maintain and grow anchor

Your American Express Blue Business Cash with a $25,000 limit and 74 months of history is your strongest card.

This is your anchor - lenders use it as a starting point for offers.

Keep it in good standing. Consider calling American Express Blue Business Cash for a limit increase. A higher limit here directly increases your funding number.

Your fastest wins:

Pay Chase Sapphire Preferred from $2,100 down to $1,200 or less.

Pay American Express Blue Business Cash from $4,800 down to $2,500 or less.

Pay Capital One Spark from $950 down to $800 or less.
